

Animal Welfare Policy

Schemata Workshop is committed to supporting animal welfare. To this end, Schemata Workshop will not be involved in the production, promotion, or sale of goods and services that are antithetical to the well-being of animals. For the purposes of this policy, animal welfare refers to the ethical, merciful, non-abusive, and non-harmful treatment of animals, and to the prevention of any distress or pain so they enjoy a dignified and humane quality of life. This means that all animals must be humanely raised and cared for throughout their lives. When raised for food, animals must not be subject to factory farms, gestational crating, or other similar types of overtly restrictive confines, and they must be transported and humanely slaughtered in accordance with and beyond all state and federal laws, regulations, and guidelines.

Schemata Workshop will only purchase products from suppliers who follow animal welfare practices, and will not conduct or participate in any animal testing or experimentation, or do business with enterprises that use inhumane animal treatment practices. Schemata Workshop does not conduct business with factory farms, does not conduct business with enterprises that use gestational crating or other similar types of overtly restrictive confines, and does not conduct business with slaughterhouses that are not USDA-Certified. Schemata Workshop is an architecture practice and, as such, does not utilize or sell animal products.
