

Local Control Policy

Schemata Workshop seeks to have a direct relationship with the communities that it serves, and embraces the accountability that comes when senior leadership and stakeholders reside in the places they impact. Schemata Workshop aims for its senior decision makers to live within the community where it is located.

Schemata Workshop encourages all employees and leaders to be personally connected to and vested in the community and the environment within which it operates. In addition to the residency of its senior executives, Local Control, for Schemata Workshop, includes those individuals who are accountable for the actions, and regional and local standing of the company, and those who make important decisions affecting Schemata Workshop's sustainability and the ongoing economic well-being of its employees and the communities in which it is located. This includes individuals such as members, foundation supporters, and sponsors.

100% of Schemata Workshop employees live within a 20 miles radius of the business. 50% live within a mile of the business.
