

Positive Products

Positive products and services are those that contribute to a better society and environment and Energy Opportunities is committed to providing a positive service for society and the environment. We provide consulting on green building projects which strive to achieve significant levels of sustainable/regenerative outcomes. We use an integrative approach that considers the impact the building will have on all life, as well as human equity and economics. Energy Opportunities avoids entering into business relationships/transactions and the purchase of products or services that have a negative impact on society and the environment.
