Community Service (3.13)

Hennebery Eddy understands the importance of being an active community member in creating economic and social opportunities for future generations. Community service permeates all levels of the firm along with our dedication to being engaged citizens. Professionally, various staff currently hold positions as City of Portland Design Commission, City of Gresham Design Commission, Regional Arts and Culture Council, City of Portland Historic Landmarks Commission, Design-Build Institute of America, and the Construction Specifications Institute.

As a firm, we extend our contributions into two volunteer days strategically focused on social and environmental sustainability to support organizations including Habitat for Humanity, the Oregon Food Bank, and the USGBC Center for Green Schools, among others. We also provide flexible schedules to staff so they can participate in volunteering activities meaningful to them.

Staff are also encouraged to become engaged citizens in areas of personal interest ranging from the City of Portland Minority Evaluator Program and Portland Public Schools, to Architects Without Borders and the Northwest Earth Institute. This commitment to our community not only serves a need, it provides an opportunity to strengthen our team through shared experiences.

Teaching (3.13.02)

Hennebery Eddy supports members of the firm who wish to share their knowledge, passion, and enthusiasm for the design profession by participating in studio critiques and teaching design studios and related courses.

Day of Community Service (3.13.03)

Hennebery Eddy Architects believes in giving back to our community, and we encourage employees to participate in the annual Martin Luther King, Jr. Day of Service. Employees who participate in Day of Service will be paid for up to eight hours of their time.

Community Service Scholarship (3.13.04)

Hennebery Eddy awards a community service scholarship annually to a member of our staff. The goal of the scholarship is to encourage members of Hennebery Eddy to actively engage in improving their community, whether locally or globally. We will provide the selected candidate a cash stipend of up to $2,500 towards project-related expenses and up to 80 hours of time that may be charged to the service project during regular work hours.
