

Worker Happiness Policy

Our team is our most valuable asset and with this understanding McLennan Design is committed to building a cultural and physical work environment that supports its team's health and happiness. Annually, an anonymous worker happiness survey will be conducted to take the pulse of our team morale. The results from this survey will inform company policy and growth strategy for the following year.

Team members are strongly encouraged to bring their ideas to make McLennan Design a place that better supports the health and happiness of its employees to firm leadership.
